

Jameson wanted to connect with a younger audience, swaying them to choose their whiskey over others at the liquor store. MediaTree created a 2 song music download card that they offered with the purchase of 700 ml bottles at select retail locations.

At the point of redemption, new buyers could visit Jameson's new website, which is full of cocktail recipes and information targeted specifically to this younger market.